Dear Stakeholder

DELIVERING TRAVELINE

The Traveline Advisory Group is conducting a consultation on the future arrangements for delivering travel information in the UK. We are gathering the views of the widest possible cross-section of interested parties who produce data and process, give out and use information.

The catalyst for this consultation has been a proposal for the service's future drawn up by a potential consortium of bus operators. This proposal is included with this covering letter.

We anticipate that stakeholders will have a view on the strengths and weaknesses of the proposal, and any particular challenges that they think will arise in implementing the proposed changes.

There is no need to comment on every aspect, but we particularly ask the organisations and individuals currently involved in delivering Traveline to tell us whether they:-

- 1 Support the new arrangements as proposed and would participate in the new structure.
- 2 Would support and participate in the new arrangements if they were adapted (please set out your desired adaptations and your rationale for them)
- 3 Cannot support the new arrangements (please set out your reasons).

We are also open to alternative proposals.

This consultation is open for four weeks, until 15 April 2011.

Please send your response either to admin@traveline.info or to:-

Thank you for your input.

Yours sincerely
