What is NextBuses

How to use NextBuses

Traveline has introduced a new way to get public transport information. NextBuses is a service that gives you the next bus times anywhere in Scotland, England and Wales via mobile internet.

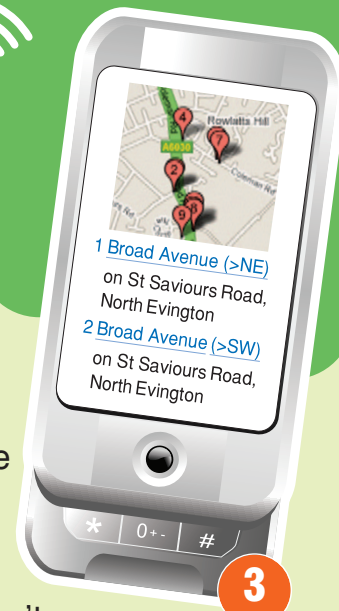

- Quick and easy to use
- You don't need to carry a bus timetable around with you
- Just your normal charges for internet data
- Receive a response within seconds (subject to your network connection)
- See your bus stops on screen on a street map – great if you are unfamiliar with the area, or bus stop locations

1 We can send you a text message containing the link to NextBuses. Simply text the word traveline to 84268 and we will send you the web address.

2 Once you're on the NextBuses homepage enter either a postcode, a street and town (e.g. Broad Av Leicester), or a bus stop code if you know it.

3 Click on the relevant stop from the results list. Choose the stop on the correct side of the road for your journey. If there are many results and you can't see the stop you want, or the results aren't where you expected, use the links further down the screen to view other locations. If you have searched by name and can't find your stop, try using a postcode.

4 With some practice you will quickly arrive at a list of next buses from your stop. Live information is shown where available, (e.g. in 6 min) otherwise scheduled bus times are shown.
